To All,

Along with stolen government license plates, stolen government vehicles are now starting to pop up in the reports I receive. Statistics show that auto thefts occur every 23 seconds. Below are some helpful hints in securing government vehicles and some actual incidents that have occurred recently:

HINTS ON SECURING GOVERNMENT VEHICLES

- a. You should remove keys from the ignition when the vehicle is parked and unattended, which means you shouldn't try to hide them in the vehicle.
- b. You should secure vehicle keys in a locked repository with limited access when the duty day ends.
- c. You should park government vehicles in a secure fenced location with adequate lighting when possible at the end of the duty day.
- d. You should not loan your key-ring to others.
- e. You should immediately report lost/stolen keys to the key custodian. All unaccounted keys should be decommissioned and new keys/locks issued.
- f. You should ensure parked vehicles are on the guard's security checklist.
- g. You should lock all doors and roll up all windows when the vehicle is parked. This is hard to do in warmer climates, but it does add to the security of the vehicle.
- h. If you are assigned a vehicle, you should not loan the vehicle to others without authorization for a specific official mission requirement.
- i. For short stops when you depart the vehicle, you should turn off the engine and secure the doors and windows when the vehicle is unattended.
- j. When practical, you should attempt to park the government vehicle in a parking lot/garage instead of along a street curb when conducting business.

- k. For carjacking purposes, you should drive with your doors locked and windows rolled up. And always leave enough space between you and the car in front so that you are able to maneuver your vehicle out of harms way when necessary. If you are carjacked, do not argue, just get out of the vehicle and immediately report the incident to the police.
- I. You shouldn't leave valuables in plain sight such as laptops, etc.
- m. If you park in a garage/lot you should only leave the vehicle key, not a key-ring with the attendant if necessary.
- n. You shouldn't leave the government credit card in the vehicle when unattended.
- o. You should ensure the key-ring does not have a name or address printed on the ring.
- p. You should ensure your vehicle is well maintained with plenty of gas to complete your travel.
- q. When stopped, you should always be very aware of your surroundings before getting in or out of the vehicle.
